tangible is being done to wards instituting a professorship of Chinese in the University of Oxford. It is much to be regretted that England has lagged so much behind continental nations in this respect. Although her interests in the East, and more especially in the Central Kingdom, vastly exceed in value those of all other European States put together, she has allowed several of them to keep ahead of her in this matter. From a commercial point of view alone it is surprising that she should have done less for the cultivation of Oriental languages and literature than either Germany or France. Whilst the great seats of learning in the United Kingdom have as yet given no oncouragement to the students of Chinese, Paris, Berlin, Vienna and St. Petersburg all necessity, but they recommend it as a precauhave professorships and schools for the study of that ancient language. It is not before time that efforts are being made to remove this national reproach by founding an University Chair for the study of Chinese at Oxford. An influential Committee of gentlemen interested in, and many of them intimately acquainted with, China, has been formed for this purpose. They propose to the University with the view to influce them for the chair. It is to be hoped that the amount required will soon be obtained. > 4.. THE INQUIRY INTO THE LOSS OF THE "YANGUARD." The court martial on Captain Daykins officers, and crew of the Vanguard, terminated on Wednesday. The decision of the Court was that the collision was caused by the high rate of l speed of the squadron during the fog. Captain Dawkins leaving the deak of the Vanguard before the evolution, which was being performed was completed; and, as there were ndications of forgy weather, by the unnecessary reduction of the Vanguard's speed without signal from the Admiral and without the Vanquard signalling to the Iron Duke; by the increase of speed (already high) of the Iron Duke during the fog, by the Iron Duke improperly steering out of line, and finally by want of any fog signal, on board the Iron Duke. The Court was of opinion that the foundering of the Vanguard might have been delayed, if not prevented, had Captain Dawkins immediately ordered all the available pumps to be worked instead of employing the crew to hoist out the boats, and had the Cantain. Commander Tandy, Navigating Lieutenant

THE CIVIL WAR IN SPAIN:

Affairs in Spain are decidedly improving. The success of the plan Inid down by General Jovellar, and adopted by the Royalists, has achieved such a marked success that its effectivo result seems morally certain. His principle was to do one thing thoroughly at a time-to clear of enemies the centre, then the north-esat. and lastly, the north of the theatra of war. It has been seen how completely the first two stages have been accomplished, and now the third and last, if the more formidable, has been taken in band. The whole of the military recentrated upon this one work, instead of being, operations in various parts of the country. And that Spain has now enrolled a larger army than for many years past is certain. The cause hopeless state. The Carlista are about to be attacked by vastly superior numbers, and even if that attack should fail to dislodge them from their strong positions and to drive them to the last extremity, the fact that they are surrounded on all sides by a ring through which ting confidence in their army and in their mutter. The gup of success has been dashed from their lips over and over again. But at last the efforts and sacrifices of Spain seem about to be rewarded. All is nearly ready for closing round the Carlists now cribbed up in one corner of the country, and it they can withstand the shock to which they will appearances make them out to be. The Jovellar Cabinet, confirming the decision of its predecessor, has resolved to send 18,000 men to Cuba between the present time and 15th November. This resolution is evidently bused on the anticipation that by the 15th of November the Carlist War will be practically over and, notwithstanding the boastful proclamation say that I had showed him other books it would on board the British etenmeship Ocean, were through it; and the former payement was him at 10 minutes before 1. THE FRENCH PRINCE IMPERIAL TO TAKE TRIP AROUND THE WOLLD. Paris, September 23rd. It is announced that the Prince Imperial will soon make a tour around the world. The reason alleged for the young Prince under taking the tour is that it is thought necessary for the completion of his education. It bolieved, however, by those competent to form a correct judgment on the matter, that the real purpose is to prevent the Bonapartiets from taking any premature action for the restoration of the Dynasty in the present unfavorable shape of the popular mind. OLD CATHOLIC AFFAIRS IN PRUSSIA. BERLIN, September 27th. Dean Susczensky has joined the old Catho lics, and has married the Baroness Gaiewska. A majority of old Catholies of Prussia have decided in favour of the marriage of priests. PUBLIC SECURITY IN ARKANSAS. Six men were hanged on the 3rd September t Fort Smith, Arkansas. Eight men had been sentenced to death at the previous sitting of the Federal Court, but one was killed afterwards while attempting to escape; and the sentence of the other was commuted to imprisonment for life. The names of the men who was executed were James H. Moore, white; Daniel H. Evans, white: Samuel W. Fooy, quarter Cherokee; Smoker Man-Killer, full blood Cherokee; Edmund Campbell, coloured: and John Whittington, white. Whittington killed a neighbour i with whom he was riding in the country, and wasmaught by the murdered man's son while rifling the father's pockets. Daniel Evans who was scarcely 21 years of age, had been a high wayman for three years, and murdered man with whom he was travelling, after which he had the temerity to return to the settlement in the dead man's clothes. While being sentenced he laughed in the Judge's face. Campbell, a negro, in company with his brother 14 years of age, and Frank Butler, murdered a man named Ross, with whom they were variance. Butler and Campbell were both sentenced to death, but the former, in attempting to escape, was shot dead. James Moore was a professional borse thief, highwayman, and murderer. Smoker, the Man-Killer, borrowed a man's gun and shot him with it, but was seen by some neighbours, who, though unable to ston the commission of the crime, give evidence upon which its perpetrator was convicted. Foov killed a man named Nuff while they were travelling together, and his conviction was principally owing to his having in a weak authorizing them to issue Policies to the extent moment confessed his crime to a woman he was of £10,000 on any one First-class Risk, or to intimate with, but who subsequently quarrelled | the extent of £15,000 on Adjoining Risks at with and betrayed him. — Globe. THE FRENCH BY THE SEA. French ladies laugh at the English " Mees: for always washing her face. The English " Mees" washes her face and keeps her colour, but a Parisian beauty treats her complexion as if it were a very old and valuable piece of Dresden china. She shades it when the sun shines, and when it becomes, we will not say dirty, but less clear, then she dusts it. If all this care is taken in the country, how will she stands the seaside? The answer is that she stands-it-remarkably-well. The-French-are characteristic and feminine by the waves as well as on the boult vards. By feminine, it is meant that the feminiae clement is dominant. We English go for the breeze and the abundon, fresh fish, sand schoes, Christy Minstrels, shrimps. We see the boats in and out with methodical punctuality. There is a stray band; there are also a few effete shops that sell, or rather that don't sell, toy boxes made of shell. There is what is called a marine bazaar. The great things are the sea beach, the fresh air, the brine, and the waves. There are the essentials to enjoyment; the others are accidents. But with the French the sea is the accident. It gives a new direction to dress; it is an inspiration for milliners and modistes, and it enables the glorification of a Parisian lady to be effected under new conditions. Buthing becomes a question of costume, and invention is atiquilated to great achievements. Great things are, in deed, achieved, and perhaps a group of Franch in costume amongst the waves is unlike to an English samily party at tea in a Brighton FINE Undersigned is prepared to Grant lodging-house as is possible to conceive. It is so in the fashionable world, it is so in the commercial world, and here it is amongst the lower orders. If you go into a shop the man may serve you, but the woman attends to all matters of administration. He does the mere manual part. She takes your money, makes up your bill, and comes to the assistance "if there is any difficulty. From to the lat ultimo arrived here vesterday a hundred to a hundred and fifty lives are reported lost. Lighthouses, wharves, and nearly afternoon. We take the subjoined telegrams all the houses have been swept away. The tempest lested two days. During that time the sea was driven into the streets, which were six LONDON wie SUEZ CANAL feet deep in water. All the churches and three; fourths of the dwelling-houses were destroyed: Many of their inmates were unable to escape, and some were carried out to sea. Whole families perished together, and bodies were found in every direction under the ruins and for twenty miles along the shore. Seventy corpaes have already been buried. Assistance has been sent to the survivors, among whom great suffering prevails. Several sattlements were submerged, and the towns of Saluria, Matagorda, San Bernardino, and Cedar Lake are reported to have been swept away with additional loss of COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE. IMPERIAL QUARTO. ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY PUNTI AND MANDARIN

PRONUNCIATION. An Angro-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

HOR comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objeots in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in entense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vust margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work. the following facts are submitted for consideration. Judiners' Vocabularly contains about 16,000 Obinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst Orders for Copies may be sent to the Daily other elementary works as yet published, the Amoy student of this difficult language absolutely re- Formosa....... quires examples to display the various appli. Thanks to the traditions and institutions of this country, we are the only people in the world among whom the fusion of classes is not inconsistent with the preservation of class distinctions. We have here orders, but not castes. The lines that demarcate one order from another are part of our social history, and seem to have their sanctions in the very fitness of things. The result is that there is an entire absence of restraint in dur social intercourse, an absence of restraint which would be impossible unless the social distinctions themselves were in their turn as as well defined as they are.
